WilainGTON, N. C., Oct. 1.—The German gunboat Panther, after spending four days in port, left this morning for the West Indies. Her departure was the occasion for a great demonstration. Several thousand people gathered along the water-front and applauded the war craft as she passed down the stream.

The Marine Band aboard played Dixie, and the officers and sailors waved their farewell. The steam craft in the river formed in a shrieking chorus, and the Panther returned the salute with her sharp siren,

The German officers were royally entertained during their stay in port.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) (REENSBORO, N. C., October 1— Criminal, as well as great, minds it seems run in the same channel. The sensational letter published in the Raleigh News and Observer this morning from the defaulting bank cashler, Dewey, is duplicated here. The editor of the Greensboro Record received this morning a letter from Green McAdoo, in denial of the report that he 'recently shot an officer at Keysville, Va. In his letter Green says that he has not been near Keysville, and with the information at hand, he is not going near it; that from what he has learned, there are a dozen or two other negroes who look so much like him that they are carrying their lives in their hands, walking around without a bodyguard. But Green does not say where he is going, where he has been or when he is coming back. He intimates that it is bad enough to be hunted and threatened with destruction just because he killed his wife in Greensboro. WILMINGTON BIDS GOOD-BYE TO PANTHER
